

Types	Titles
Performance testing	Checking the loading time of the website's home page
Load testing	Testing the website's performance with 100 concurrent users
Stress testing	Testing the website's performance with 10000 concurrent users
Recovery testing	Checking the website's recovery after a temporary server outage
Volume testing	Test the system's performance with a very large volume of data
Scalability testing	Verify system performance under an increasing number of users from 1000 to 10000
Endurance	Verifying the website's stable performance over an extended period of time
UI testing	Verifying that menus, buttons, and product cards are displayed correctly
UX testing	Verifying that the user journey from product selection to checkout is clear
Usability testing	Checking whether users can easily find a product and place an order without additional assistance;
Compatibility testing	Verifying that the website works properly in different browsers and on different devices
Localization testin	Check that the translations, date formats, times, and language are correct;
Internalization testing	Verifying whether a new language can be added to the application without modifying the source code;
Globalization testing	Verifying that the website is ready for use by users from other countries
Re-testing	Check the pagination in the results sorted by newest items after the error has been corrected
Smoke testing	Check localization and authorization
Regressin testing	Check whether product categorization by collection name works after adding the "Fragrance Type" filter
Securuty testing	Checking for login attempts with an incorrect password
Accessibility testing	Checking whether the site can be navigated using only the keyboard (Tab/Enter)
Ad-hoc testing	Testing the shopping cart's behavior when a large number of different items (20–50 items) are added without a predefined scenario.
End-to-end testing	Testing the full workflow: find a product → add to cart → complete the order